

I regularly listen to K-LOVE on FM 94.3 in the Chicago area. I listen because no other local programming provides the same non-commercial mix of wholesome (Christian) music and positive content. As a father of three boys, I believe that having K-LOVE on the air in my community is in the local interest because it so positive. Sometimes, when watching cable TV, even the commercials are offensive. It is difficult to find media of any kind--radio, broadcast or cable TV, movies, internet--that can be experienced by the whole family without having to jump for the remote.

I am also a listener to National Public Radio, WBEZ 91.5 in Chicago. I believe that K-LOVE is as valuable to the public interest as WBEZ. If K-LOVE were replaced by an LPFM broadcaster, it would likely carry programming that does not have a positive influence on me, on children, and on the community as a whole.

Thank you.
